Welcome to ENRS’ 27th Annual Scientific Sessions! This year’s theme is Nursing Science, Evidence, and Policy: Creating a Culture of Health. The conference begins on Wednesday April 15 with Dr. Diana Mason’s keynote address on “Creating a Culture of Health: A Nursing Legacy Unfulfilled?” Our Thursday April 16 plenary presentation will be delivered by Dr. Jacquelyn Campbell on “A Culture of Health: Nursing Research as an Evidence Based Approach to Policy on Violence.”

Other highlights of the program include: student poster presentations, including the work of BS, MS, DNP, and PhD students; scientific series of peer reviewed podium, poster and symposium presentations; opportunities for consultation with representatives from the National Institute of Nursing Research (NINR); the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI); and workshops on: “NINR Common Data Elements to Advance Symptom Science”; “Publishing in Nursing Journals to Influence Health and Policy”; “Nurse Scientist Leaders in Health Policy: Public Agencies and Private Organizations”; “Designing Research to Inform and Advance Health Policy”; “Career Cartography and Legacy Mapping: Advancing Programs of Research and Informing Policy”; A Funders Panel of Public Agencies and Private Organizations”; “Nurse Scientists as Policy Leaders”; and “Powerful Data, Meaningful Answers: Using the Healthcare Cost and Utilization Project (HCUP) Resources.”

I also encourage you to take part in the Research Interest Group (RIG) sessions. RIGs provide a wonderful opportunity to get involved or stay engaged with others with similar research interests. RIGs also provide a forum to make important contributions to the growth of nursing science in the northeastern region. Current RIGs are: Aging; Bio-Behavioral; Chronic Comorbid Conditions; Comprehensive Systematic Review/Knowledge Translation; Criminal Justice, Trauma & Violence; Family/Community-Based Participatory; Global Health; Nursing Research in Clinical Settings; Qualitative Research; Spiritual Health; and Theory Development. In the event that there is not a RIG that matches your research interests, I welcome you to submit an application to develop a new RIG.

In addition, I hope that you will attend the ENRS Annual Business Meeting from 5:30 p.m. – 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday April 15. At this time, updates on new initiatives and activities of ENRS will be provided, newly elected officers and newly elected or appointed committee members will be introduced, and outgoing officials will be recognized.

It takes a team to plan for and execute a successful conference. In particular, the Conference Planning Committee, chaired by ENRS President-Elect Dr. Rosanna DeMarco, our abstract reviewers, and our management team at Fernley & Fernley. All are greatly appreciated for their considerable work on a variety of critically important and time-consuming endeavors.

Finally, I extend my gratitude for the generous financial support of our sustaining, strategic, supporting and collaborative partners, conference sponsors, and exhibitors — their contributions are critical to delivering a meeting of this caliber. I encourage you to visit the exhibit hall to view the many vendors’ products, services, and opportunities for education. Best wishes for a rewarding, educational, and memorable time at the 27th Annual Scientific Sessions.

Sincerely,

Wendy Budin, PhD, RN-BC, FAAN
President, Eastern Nursing Research Society
ENRS thanks the following organizations for their support of this conference.

Target Audience
The 27th Annual Scientific Sessions appeals to all individuals interested in advancing nursing science, including practicing nurse researchers and dedicated nursing science students and faculty.

Conference Objectives
1. Describe the generation and application of nursing research to promote high quality, inter-professional health care for diverse populations, locally and globally.
2. Propose innovative strategies to use nursing science to influence health policy.
3. Examine approaches to promote translation of research findings into a culture of health.
4. Explore theoretical and research methodological approaches to promote health through public policy.

Conference Highlights
- Opening Keynote speaker Diana J. Mason, PhD, RN, FAAN
- Thursday Plenary Session speaker Jacquelyn Campbell, PhD, RN, FAAN
- Scientific series of peer reviewed podium, poster and symposium presentations
- Eight Workshop sessions
- Awards for peer-reviewed podium and poster presentations by Doctoral Students
- Awards for Early (Pre-Dissertation) PhD Student & DNP Student Poster Presentations
- Awards for BS & MS Poster Presentations
- Opportunities to network with colleagues from research intensive academic and clinical settings

ENRS 2015 Mobile App
The official mobile app for the Annual Scientific Sessions is ready to download on your iPhone, iPad, or Android! Click http://crowd.cc/enrs2015 from your device. Apple and Android users can also search for the app in the iTunes store or Play store.

Once installed, you’ll have instant access to awesome features, like:
- Full Program Schedule
- Abstracts
- Detailed information about speakers, exhibitors, and sponsors
- Notifications of important updates, special offers, and more
Continuing Education Credit

Nurse

The Institute for Advancement of Human Behavior (IAHB) is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

This course is co-provided by IAHB and Eastern Nursing Research Society (ENRS). Maximum of 16.5 contact hours.

Satisfactory completion

Participants must complete an attendance/evaluation form in order to receive a certificate of completion/attendance. Your chosen sessions must be attended in their entirety. Partial credit of individual sessions is not available.

Objectives

After attending this program Participants should be able to:

1. Describe the generation and application of nursing research to promote high quality, inter-professional health care for diverse populations, locally and globally.

2. Propose innovative strategies to use nursing science to influence health policy.

3. Examine approaches to promote translation of research findings into a culture of health.

4. Explore theoretical and research methodological approaches to promote health through public policy.

Disclosure of Conflict of Interest

All people with control of the CNE content for this activity (ex: faculty/speakers, planners, authors, co-authors and administrative staff participating) disclosed their financial relationships to IAHB. We acknowledge the potential presence of limitations on information, including, but not limited to: data that represents ongoing research; interim analysis; preliminary data; unsupported opinion; or approaches to care that, while supported by some research studies, do not represent the only opinion or approach to care supported by research.

All individuals in control of content disclosed that they have no relevant financial relationships with commercial interest organizations.

IMPORTANT!

The online certificate site will be available the end of the day April 17, 2015 through May 17, 2015.

After that date, the site will be removed and certificates will no longer be available. If you need a CNE certificate, you must complete the evaluation and certificate process prior to that date; otherwise you will forfeit your credit for the course.

To get your certificate, just go to ENRS.CmeCertificateOnline.com. Click on the “27th Annual Scientific Sessions” event. On the site, you will be asked to evaluate various aspects of the program. You may then print your certificate immediately (encouraged). A copy of the certificate will also be emailed to you in case you need to print additional copies (check your spam filter and junk email folder if you do not see it come through). Your certificate will show the hours you entered. Please address any questions about the process to: certificate@amedcoemail.com.
Eastern Nursing Research Society
Presents the 2015 Annual Awards Recipients

The Distinguished Contributions to Nursing Research Award is given annually in recognition of sustained and outstanding contributions to nursing research by a Senior Investigator. The awards committee is proud to honor Dr. Martha A.Q. Curley, University of Pennsylvania, with the 2015 Distinguished Contributions to Nursing Research Award.

The Suzanne Feetham Nurse Scientist Family Research Award is given annually in recognition of outstanding contributions by a Junior Investigator (earned doctorate in last 7 years with a developing program of family research and scholarship) OR Senior investigator (has a well-established program of family research and scholarship). The awards committee is proud to honor Senior Investigator Dr. Susan Sullivan-Bolyai, New York University, with the 2015 Suzanne Feetham Nurse Scientist Family Research Award.

The ENRS/Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science Dissertation Award is given annually to a doctoral candidate enrolled in a program of nursing that awards a research doctoral degree requiring a dissertation. The awards committee is proud to honor Catherine C. Cohen, Columbia University, with the 2015 ENRS/ Council for the Advancement of Nursing Science Dissertation Award.

The Rising Star Research Award recognizes a Junior Investigator that has shown promise in establishing a program of health and/or nursing research. The awards committee is proud to honor Dr. Catherine C. McDonald, University of Pennsylvania, with the 2015 Rising Star Research Award.

ENRS/American Nurses Foundation Scholar Award is an annual scholarship presented to a nurse researcher encouraging positive change in healthcare practice and policy. ENRS and ANF are proud to honor 2014 ENRS/ANF Grant recipients Dr. Karen Kalmakis, University of Massachusetts (Junior); and Dr. Hilary Barnes, Center for Health Outcomes and Policy Research, University of Pennsylvania (Senior).

7:00 AM – 6:00 PM  Registration
11:00 AM – 12:00 PM  NINR Round Table Appointments

Extramural/Intramural round tables will be set up for participants to discuss potential concept, training and funding opportunities with NINR Program Directors (Drs. Donna Jo McCloskey, Mary Roary, Wendy Henderson, and Mary Engler). Signup sheets are available at the registration desk.

12:00 – 12:30 PM  BS, MS, Early PhD, and DNP Poster Set-up
12:30 – 2:15PM  Opening Remarks & Opening Keynote Presentation: Creating a Culture of Health: A Nursing Legacy Unfulfilled?

Thurgood Southwest

Diana J. Mason, PhD, RN, FAAN

Dr. Mason is the Rudin Professor of Nursing and Co-Founder and Co-Director of the Center for Health, Media, and Policy (CHMP) at Hunter College, City University of New York. She is president of the American Academy of Nursing and serves as Strategic Adviser for the Campaign for Action, an initiative to implement the recommendations from the Institute of Medicine’s Future of Nursing report, to which she contributed. Dr. Mason is also a journalist who has produced and moderated a weekly radio program on health and health policy for almost 30 years. She served as editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Nursing for over a decade. She blogs for the CHMP and the JAMA News Forum. Since its inception, she has served on the National Advisory Committee for Kaiser Health News. The author of over 200 publications, she is the lead co-editor of the award-winning book, Policy and Politics in Nursing and Health Care and of The Nursing Profession: Development Challenges, and Opportunities, part of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Health Policy Book Series. Dr. Mason has received numerous awards for writing and dissemination of health-related information. She is currently engaged in a study of the intersection of media and health policy. Dr. Mason is the recipient of numerous awards and honors, including an Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters from Long Island University; an Honorary Doctorate of Science from West Virginia University; and fellowship in the New York Academy of Medicine.

Learning objectives:
1. Discuss the trajectory of historical evidence of nursing’s leadership in creating a culture of health.
2. Describe the role of public and private policies in creating a culture of health.
3. Appraise one’s own program of research for its contributions to creating a culture of health.
4. Identify two strategies for contributing to the national movement to create a culture of health.

2:30 – 3:30 PM  Workshop Series A

Workshop 1: NINR Common Data Elements to Advance Symptom Science

Lincoln 2

The purpose of this workshop is to discuss the work of the NINR Center Directors on the use of common data elements to advance symptom science. The process of developing and using common data elements for symptom science will be discussed; the identified common data elements will be described; and comments and feedback will be elicited from the workshop participants regarding future development and use of common data elements to measure symptoms.

Learning objectives:
1. Discuss the benefits, challenges, and best practices in use of common data elements for advancing symptom science
2. Discuss the status of the development of a set of common data elements for symptom science
3. Discuss the potential for the use of common data elements to promote research that contributes to health policy

Presenters:
Nancy S. Redeker, PhD, RN, FAHA, FAAN, Beatrice Renfield Term Professor in Nursing, Yale University School of Nursing
Donna Jo McCloskey, PhD, RN, FAAN, Program Director/Team Lead: Self-Management Branch, Division of Extramural Science Programs (DESP), Office of Extramural Programs (OEP), NIH National Institute of Nursing Research
Joan K. Austin, PhD, RN, FAAN, Distinguished Professor Emerita, Indiana University School of Nursing, Special Assistant to the Director of the NIH National Institute of Nursing Research

Workshop 2: Publishing in Nursing Journals to Influence Health and Policy

Lincoln 3

In this workshop, participants will hear from a panel of 4 nurse editors from the ENRS region who lead the journals, Nursing Research, Journal of Nursing Regulation, Cancer Nursing, and Nursing Economics. Editors will describe the aims and scope of their journals, followed by a panel discussion of the qualities of a manuscript that affect its likelihood of review and acceptance, and concluding with a question-and-answer period on writing for publication to influence health and policy.

Learning Objectives:
1. Identify the general focus and audience of each journal represented on the panel
2. Articulate at least one characteristic of a manuscript submitted for publication that is essential to success in the review process
3. Discuss how publishing in nursing journals can influence health and policy

Moderator:
Deborah A. Chyun, PhD, RN, FAHA, FAAN

Presenters:
Maryann Alexander, PhD, RN, FAAN, Chief Officer, Nursing Regulation, National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN), Editor-in-Chief, Journal of Nursing Regulation, Advancing Nursing Excellence for Public Protection
Deborah A. Chyun, PhD, RN, FAHA, FAAN, Executive Associate Dean, Dr. John W. Rowe Professor in Successful Aging, New York University, College of Nursing, Associate Editor, Nursing Research (official journal of ENRS)
Pamela S. Hinds, PhD, RN, FAAN, Director, Department of Nursing Research, Children’s National Medical Center, Editor, Cancer Nursing, An International Journal for Cancer Care
Donna Nickitas, PhD, RN, NEA-BC, CNE, FAAN, Professor, Hunter College, Executive Officer, Nursing PhD Program, CUNY Graduate Center, Editor, Nursing Economics, The Journal for Health Care Leaders

Workshop 3: Nurse Scientist Leaders in Health Policy: Public Agencies and Private Organizations
Lincoln 4

In this interactive session, Policy leaders describe career opportunities, preparation and responsibilities to inform health policy.

Learning Objectives:
1. Describe career opportunities for nurse scientists as policy leaders
2. Describe processes to achieve leadership roles and outcomes in health policy

Presenters:
Richard Ricciardi, PhD, NP, FAANP, FAAN, Healthcare Scientist, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality
Deborah E. Trautman, PhD, RN, Chief Executive Officer, American Association of Colleges of Nursing

Workshop 4: Designing Research to Inform and Advance Health Policy
Lincoln 5

The role nursing research plays in informing and advancing policy has not been well understood by nurse scientists. This workshop will provide an introduction to health policy research and the process of designing a program of research that (directly) informs policy. Nursing and health policy research will be used as case study examples to provide an understanding of the process. Participants are asked to bring their research question(s), or examples of ongoing research to use in group work. Groups will assist participants to design and frame their research developing programs of research trajectories that inform and advance policies to affect access, quality and cost of care to their target populations.

Learning objectives:
1. Describe research designs that contribute to health policy research;
2. Describe how research contributes to the policy process;
3. Apply key concepts leaned to a specific program of research.

Presenters:
Carol Hall Ellenbecker, RN, PhD, Professor, University of Massachusetts Boston College of Nursing and Health Sciences
Jean Edward, PhD, RN, Assistant Professor, University of Massachusetts Boston College of Nursing and Health Sciences

6:30 – 8:15 AM  Doctoral Student Scholars Networking Breakfast: Creating a Career Sustaining Mentor/Mentee Relationship in Science
Lincoln 5

Engaging in and maintaining a mentor/mentee relationship is one of the most important aspects of graduate education in science. Professional opportunities during and upon graduation from a doctoral program can depend on the quality of this relationship; therefore, significant and thoughtful attention should be paid to grooming this relationship. This session will provide a foundation to develop and nurture a successful mentor/mentee relationships and provide exemplars of successful mentor/mentee relationships in various stages of a scientist career.

Learning Objectives:
1. Discuss strategies to engage in and maintain a mentor/mentee relationship throughout a career as a scientist.
2. Identify responsibilities of both the mentor/mentee in a career sustaining relationship.
3. Identify strategies to relieve tension in a mentor/mentee relationship.

Session Facilitators:
Amy M. Sawyer, PhD, RN, Assistant Professor, College of Nursing, The Pennsylvania State University
Liza Behrens, MSN, RN, CCRC, PhD Student, College of Nursing, The Pennsylvania State University
Elise M. Colancecco, MS, RN, CCRN, PhD Student, The Pennsylvania State University

8:15 – 9:30 AM  Welcome & Plenary Presentation: A Culture of Health: Nursing Research as an Evidence Based Approach to Policy on Violence
Thurgood Southwest

Jacquelyn C. Campbell, PhD, RN, FAAN, Anna D. Wolf Chair and Professor, Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing, National Program Director, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Nurse Faculty Scholars Program

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation “Culture of Health” vision statements explicitly recognize health outcomes from exposure to violence, and assert that a culture of health has to include prevention of violence. Case studies of policy formation will be presented including: Senate Testimony with AAN Board support, Affordable Health Care Act coverage of routine screening for domestic violence in Well Woman Visits also adopted by the VA, governmental policy on intersections of HIV and violence, “trauma informed care,” elder abuse, and campus sexual assault policy based on nursing and other discipline research cited in influential IOM reports and published AAN Expert Panel policy statements.

Learning objectives:
1. Describe violence prevention in RWJF “Culture of Health” vision statements.
2. Describe Recent National Health Policy Initiatives on Violence Prevention based in part on nursing research.

12:30 – 1:30 PM RIG Meetings

12:30 – 2:00 PM Workshop Series B

Workshop 5: Career Cartography and Legacy Mapping: Advancing Programs of Research and Informing Policy

This interactive workshop applies a conceptualization and two tools to map a program of research and career legacy to advance science and inform policy. Participants will engage in a discussion regarding the challenges to maintaining a career focus moving forward and the benefits of having a concrete visual tool to provide guidance to achieve one's desired career outcomes. Two different tools will be presented and participants will be guided through the initial steps of applying these tools to their own career.

Learning Objectives:
1. Describe purposes of the components of career cartography of destination statement, career mapping, career cartography team, communication and dissemination strategies.
2. Describe processes and outcomes of career cartography and legacy mapping to advance career goals and outcomes.
3. Apply two tools related to mapping a career to desired outcomes to improve health and inform policy.

Presenters:
Suzanne Feetham, PhD, RN, FAAN, Nursing Research Consultant, Children’s National Health System
Professor Emeritus, University of Illinois at Chicago
Adjunct Professor, University of Pennsylvania

Pamela S. Hinds, PhD, RN, FAAN, The William and Joanne Conway Chair in Nursing Research
Director, Department of Nursing Research and Quality Outcomes
Associate Director, Center for Translational Science, Children’s National Health System
Professor, Department of Pediatrics, The George Washington University

Workshop 6: Funders Panel – Public Agencies and Private Organizations

In this interactive workshop, leaders in Public Agencies (AHRQ, NINR, PCORI) and Private Organizations (ANF, NCSBN) will describe funding opportunities, priorities and application processes.

Learning Objectives:
1. Describe funding opportunities from Agencies (AHRQ, NINR, PCORI) and Private Organizations American Nurses Foundation (ANF) and National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN).
2. Compare mandates, missions, priorities, and processes across the public agencies and private organizations.
3. Describe expectations for grant applications.
Workshop 7: Nurse Scientists as Policy Leaders

In this interactive workshop, nurse scientists will describe career opportunities, roles and responsibilities as policy leaders both inside Federal Agencies and as researchers testing policy-relevant interventions.

Learning Objectives:
1. Describe how nurse scientists become policy leaders by promoting translation of research into a culture of health at the CMS Innovation Center (CMMI) and the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA).
2. Describe nursing's role in the new policy context of Health Care Reform including Affordable Care Act changes.
3. Describe innovative nursing strategies to inform health policy and outcomes of policy leadership by a grantee of the CMS Innovation Center.

Presenters:
Ellen Marie Whelan, PhD, RN, CRNP, FAAN, Senior Advisor, CMS Innovation Center
Sarah L. Szanton, PhD, ANP, FAAN, Associate Professor, Director of the PhD Program, Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing, Principal Faculty, Center on Innovative Care in Aging
RADM Deborah Parham Hopson, PhD, RN, FAAN, Senior Advisor for HIV/AIDS Policy, Health Resources and Services Administration, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

Workshop 8: Powerful Data, Meaningful Answers: Using the Healthcare Cost and Utilization Project (HCUP) Resources

This workshop is aimed at participants interested in research on a broad range of topics, including cost and quality of hospital inpatient and outpatient services, access to health care, and treatment outcomes at the national, state, and local community levels. The workshop will provide in-depth exposure to several Healthcare Cost and Utilization Project (HCUP) resources. The overall goal of the workshop is to provide participants with the foundational resources to apply HCUP data to their research interests.

HCUP is a family of population-based health care databases, software tools, research publications, and support services created through a Federal-State-Industry partnership and sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ). HCUP captures information on 95 percent of all hospital stays in the U.S. and is the largest collection of multi-year, all-payer, encounter-level data publicly available. Current databases include a mix of nationwide and state inpatient, ambulatory surgery, and emergency department data. Hospital administrative data, such as HCUP, have been used for decades in outcomes research and health economic analyses. HCUP databases contain a core set of clinical and nonclinical information found in a typical discharge abstract including all-listed diagnoses and procedures, discharge status, patient demographics, costs and charges for all patients, regardless of payer (e.g., Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance, uninsured). HCUP data are available in a uniform format to facilitate use for comparisons and analyses. Faculty will provide an overview of HCUP databases and software tools with emphasis on readmission variables and application of the AHRQ Quality Indicators software.

Learning objectives:
At the end of this session, participants will have an improved understanding of the following:
1. The strengths and limitations of existing administrative data such as HCUP.
2. How HCUP databases and learning resources can be used for clinical and health services research.
3. How to access HCUP data via HCUPnet – a free online data query system – as well as through the HCUP Central Distributor.
4. How to maximize the value of the HCUP databases by applying free software tools that help categorize, transform, and enhance existing HCUP data files.

• PhD in Nursing
• DNP
July 13-17, 2015
Rutgers Health Sciences Campus at Newark, NJ
Registration deadline: June 26, 2015

As the demand for health care continues to grow, so does the need for easily accessible, up-to-date evidence on best practices in health care. Systematic reviews are an important vehicle for addressing this need. Participants in the Summer Institute will gain a thorough understanding of the process and tools needed to undertake this important form of research.

Four Tracks Available
1-Day Introductory, 3-Day Qualitative, 3-Day Quantitative, or 5-Day Proposal Development Track

Specialized Instruction. Small Groups.
Classes will be held in Rutgers' high fidelity classrooms and computer labs. You will gain hands-on instruction and practice in using three specialized software programs:

- JBI-MASbARI (Meta Analysis of Statistics, Assessment and Review Instrument) for quantitative data;
- JBI-QARI (Qualitative Assessment and Review Instrument) for qualitative data; and
- JBI CReMS (Comprehensive Review Management Software)
